

CONFEREES GET SENATE OKAYED RELIEF OUTLAY

Changes in Measure So Rapid Clarks Unable To Compute Exact Amount It Carries.

SET ABOUT $2,428,000,000

Vandenberg Demands WPA
Be Dropped and Burden
Returned to States.

WASHINGTON, June 2—Emergency relief bill passed by the senate today by a 69 to 21 vote of approval, a part relief and deficiency appropriation bill sped today into a conference in which senators will try to straighten out differences between the house.

But the fact that the senate amended and expanded the bill last night, and that it could not immediately compute the exact total of funds involved, was a surprise. The sum was roughly at more than $2,428,000,000 of which the biggest item is a $1,425,000,000 grant to President Roosevelt to carry up WPA and other relief activities this fiscal year.

Wants WPA Ended
Fighting for purposes of the "second" Sen. Vandenberg, Republican, sought to discontinue WPA and return the state relief to the federal government bearing 75 per cent of the cost. His amendment was snuffed under 57 to 41.

On this issue Vandenberg found himself opposed by Sen. Borah, of Idaho, another man prominent in the Republican presidential campaign, and as the debate continued the name of Gov. Alf M. Landon, of Kansas, in childlike tones he said Vandenberg argued that if the bill of administration were given to the states "waste and political exploitation" would be avoided. Borah disagreed on the wisdom of such a move. He said Harry I. Hopkins, WPA administrator, was right, and that it was "not in the interest of economy for one government to contribute the money and another to administer it."

Refers To Landon Views
Sen. Schwellenbach, Democrat of Washington, broke in to say that since the senate was hearing from some "Republican candidates," it should be advised of views expressed in the past by Gov. Landon of Kansas. He read from a number of utterances he attributed to Landon, including a statement that "the President and WPA are doing all in their power to let the people to work." Landon, Schwellenbach said, was consistently and repeatedly praising the administration of relief until he was visited by William Randolph Hearst, publisher.

Horned Toad Sent Mayor Smith by Texas Exposition

Texas Frederick C. Smith today sent the recipient of a horned toad, sent him as a part of the program calling attention to the Texas centennial exposition at Dallas. The toad arrived by parcel post, in a cardboard package, about four by five inches. The toad was packed in excelsior in which numerous insects had been placed to provide food for the toad's 1,000-mile journey from the Horned Toad Ranch, in central Texas.

The toad is apparently happy in its new environment at the mayor's office in the City hall, where according to Mayor Smith, he intends to keep it, "to eat politicians and political writers." At noon today it had not been named but Mayor Smith said it would be christened in the near future when he had selected a suitable name.

The toad is about four inches in length, dull gray in color, with dark spots on either side of a light stripe running lengthwise across its back. Two pointed horns are on either side of its forehead, and its body and legs are covered with small thorn-like projections. The package was received and opened by Harry Brookshire, city clerk, who said that disposition of the toad gift would be left to Mayor Smith.

44 NEW AUTOS SOLD HERE IN MAY

Marion county residents purchased 44 new passenger cars last month, 41 more than were sold in the county in May of 1935, according to the office of Clerk of Courts Robert B. Grigsby show.

Fourteen new trucks, seven more than a year ago, were sold in Marion county, the clerk reported. Car sales last month totaled 278 over the same month last year.

FATHER SLAYS FIVE IN FAMILY

Clocks Multiple Deaths of Wife and Children, Then Ends His Own Life.

NOTE TELLS OF DISCORD

Two Survivors Also Refer to His Worries Over Lack of Money for Home.

By The Associated Press
DAYTON, Ohio, June 2—One by one, Walter Johnson, 42, killed five members of his family, including four of his seven children. Five times he looked at the clock, recorded death in its turn, then killed himself, authorities said today as they studied a note recording the tragedy.

He couldn't "take" discord over his work, he wrote, and the testimony of Horace, 38, and Wilbur, 16, two of three surviving children indicated, Coroner H. W. Harris said that the killings resulted from worry over insufficient funds to "keep the home going."

Johnson's victims were:
His wife, Louetta, 41; daughters Rose Marie, 15; Elsie May, 10 and Marietta, 6, and a son, Walter, 12.

Threatens Children
Meeting Horace and Wilbur with a shotgun at the door to their home late yesterday, the father shouted to them that he had "just killed your mother, your three sisters and your brother," and asked: "Do you want to live, or do you want to go with them?"

The pair told Coroner Harris they expressed their desire to live. "You'll hear a shot," he was quoted. "Then you can call the police."

Summoning aid, the boys found five bodies on three beds in the single bedroom of the house. On one lay the mother, who had been choked and beaten on the head.

Marietta, Elsie May and Walter, their throats slashed, lay on another bed, and Rose Marie, choked to death, was on the third. Johnson's body was nearby.

Police found this note: "This family, all but two boys, is a mess. I intend to get them and then take my own life because," and here Johnson asserted he could not "take" the discord that marked his work "and all the rest."

Signing it "W. F. Johnson," he added a postscript: "Wife died at 4 a. m. Sunday. Rose Marie, 10:45 a. m. Monday; Walter at 11:45 a. m. Monday; Elsie May, 12 noon, Monday; Marietta, 12:15, goodby."

It was 3:30 p. m. when Horace and Wilbur returned from school. Arthur, 21, who does not live at home, arrived a short time later.

Detective's Testimony Intended To Show Murder Was Planned Night Before.

TELLS OF CONVERSATION

Says "Executioner" Referred to Comment That "It Will Be a One-Way Ride."

By The Associated Press
DETROIT, June 2—Testimony intended to show that the "execution" of Charles A. Poole was definitely decided upon the night before his body was found in a ditch on a county roadway was introduced today at the examination of 13 of 15 members of the Black legion charged with abduction and murder.

The testimony was given by Detective Sergeant John Harvill, who told of a conversation with Dayton Dean, admitted Black legion "executioner."

It was the investigation of the slaying of Poole that disclosed the widespread ramifications of the hooded secret terrorist society.

To Be One-Way Ride
Harvill quoted Dean as telling him that Harvey Davis, called a "colonel" of the Black legion, and one of the 13 in court today, said: "When the rope is on or not, it will be a one-way ride."

The remark was made, the detective said, while Davis and Dean were en route to the meeting hall at which action against Poole was decided upon. At the hall, Harvill said Dean told him Davis and another defendant, Ervin Lee, coiled up a rope and placed it in a suit case.

Two other men were held today for questioning about the meeting. They were registered as Louis Vornack, 35, and Michael Layton, 26, detectives said they were employees of the public lighting commission and friends of Dayton Dean, accused "trigger-man" in the slaying of Poole.

While preparations went forward for the court hearing here, Prosecutor McCrea disclosed that he had evidence purporting to link the Black legion with the death of Vernon Dodge, former Flint, Mich., councilman and probate judge, at Flint in 1933. Dodge was strangled with his own bathrobe cord at his home and his death was presumed to be a suicide. A grand jury investigation of the Black legion is under way in Flint.

Solo Asks for Data
The Wayne county prosecutor made public a telegram from Sen. Elmer A. Benson, Farmer-Labor of Minnesota, asking for evidence to support a joint resolution for investigation of the Black legion and similar un-American terrorist groups throughout the United States.

Sen. Benson's telegram said that "I believe it time we found who are the real enemies of our democratic American institutions." It asked particularly for any evidence connecting the Black legion with the burning of Fr. Charles E. Coughlin's original Shrine of the Little Flower last winter.

LOOTING OF AUTOS IS BELIEVED SOLVED

Upper Sandusky Youth Sentenced and Fined on Plea of Guilty.

The recent pilfering of parked automobiles at Big Island is believed by officials here to have been cleared up today with the arrest and conviction of Bud Walker, 21, of Upper Sandusky. Walker, who was arrested with two companions in Wyandot county yesterday, was sentenced to 30 days in the Columbus workhouse and fined $100 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of petty larceny in municipal court this morning.

Walker's two companions, one 19 and the other 17, were released today. Prosecuting Attorney Paul D. Michel said, when it was found they were not directly implicated in the theft of articles from cars parked at Big Island business places Sunday night, May 24.

Fourth youth is implicated in the thefts but is being held by Upper Sandusky authorities on a preliminary charge in connection with a case there, the prosecutor said.

Yesterday's arrests were made by Deputy Sheriff W. H. Willis and Wyandot county authorities. Willis recovered a part of the loot, some of which has been identified as the property of A. D. Little of Marion. Loot includes women's and men's coats and other articles of apparel, tires, check books and incidentals. Willis said the youths had "crudely" filled in, several checks and tried to cash them at Big Island. Local authorities have had Walker and his companions under observation for a number of days, Willis said, and it was found Walker had most of the loot in his possession.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO HEAR SILICOSIS SUIT

Mozingo Action Against Shovel Co. Apparently Halted by High Tribunal; New Case Filed Here.

The two-year court fight of Charles Mozingo of Marion to obtain damages from the Marion Shovel Co. on the grounds that he contracted silicosis while working for the company apparently ended in failure yesterday when the United States supreme court in Washington, D. C., refused to review decisions of the Ohio supreme court dismissing Mozingo's suit.

The United States supreme court said Mozingo's appeal failed to offer "a substantial federal question."

City Bonds Sell At Record Low Rate of Interest

Issue Marketed at 2 3-4 Per Cent, Believed To Be Unprecedented Figure.

The city of Marion yesterday sold a $10,377 issue of bonds at an interest rate of two and three-quarters per cent and a premium of $11. These are believed to be the most favorable terms for a city bond sale in Marion's history, officials said this morning.

The successful bidder was the Cincinnati firm of Weil, Roth & Irwin.

The terms were especially attractive because of the ease of the issue, officials pointing out that ordinarily a small issue of bonds does not attract such favorable terms as a large issue. However, the bonds were sold at a one per cent lower interest rate than the $125,000 deficiency bond issue sold last year at an interest rate of three and three-quarters per cent and a premium of $10.94.

The $10,377 issue, authorized last December, is to take up notes issued for purchase of equipment for the fire and service departments. Equipment purchased included fire hose, 12 salvage covers, six smoke masks, one booster tank of 99 gallons capacity, four tires, furnishings and fixtures for the fire department and for construction of a new roof at the Central fire station, and three two-ton trucks with dump body and hydraulic hoist for the service department.

There were four bidders for the issue. In addition to the purchasers, they were Biles Bowman & Co. of Toledo, Seaboard & Co. of Cincinnati and the Provident Savings Bank & Trust Co. of Cincinnati. Interest rates in the other bids ranged up to four per cent.

STATES ACT TO SALVAGE THEIR WOMEN'S PAY LAW

Court Ruling in New York Case Brings Comments of Delight and Despair from Two Sides.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 2—Hurried conferences and legal moves to patch up some state minimum wage laws came today in the wake of the supreme court's invalidation of New York's statute governing the minimum pay of women.

Described in some quarters as a blow to labor and greeted in others with "delight," the 5-4 split decision ruled out the Empire state's 1933 law on the ground it violated "the right to make contracts."

Whether their own laws would stand or fall became an immediate question of importance to officials in many of the 16 states where state laws contain, at least some of the provisions written into the New York legislation.

TOWNSEND QUIZ NOW NEAR END

Reveals Dissension Among Leaders of Pension Plan and Decreasing Funds.

REORGANIZATION PLANNED

Dissenting Group Denounces Present Leadership and Lauds House Investigators.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 2—The congressional inquiry into the Townsend old age pension plan moved toward conclusion today after disclosure of dissension among the Townsend high command and indications of decreasing revenues.

An immediate reorganization of the Townsend setup was declared necessary by three of the four witnesses who assailed the existing leadership yesterday and pruned the work of the investigating committee.

Most critical was Frank L. McWade, until recently Townsend manager for the Rochester, N. Y., area. He assailed the movement "in the hands of racketeers."

Rev. Alfred J. Wright of Cleveland, member of the board of directors and Frank M. Hawks, recently resigned Massachusetts state area manager, joined McWade in criticizing the present leadership as having lost sight of the original purpose of the movement.

Wright and Robert E. Clementis, co-founder of the movement and former national secretary, disclosed that contributions to the Townsend cause have fallen off steadily since the investigation started two months ago.

Clementis testified the organization had a bank balance of about $150,000 when he resigned last April. Wright estimated the balance had now fallen to about $30,000.

Wright said Dr. F. M. Townsend was "an autocrat and a despot," but that the movement would continue "not because of Dr. Townsend, but in spite of him."

Four Purses And Bottle of Cream Taken by Thief

A thief who gained entrance to the house by twisting enough screen from a rear door to enable him to unhook the door took four purses and a bottle of cream from the home of Mrs. C. Russell Wilhelm at 190 West Columbia street last night while Mrs. Wilhelm, Mrs. H. H. Lawson, Mrs. W. R. Martin and Mrs. Kenneth A. Robinson played bridge in another room of the house. The purses contained about $2.

This burglar was one of two listed in police reports this morning. In the other, a burglar ransacked the second floor of the Charles Bever residence at 1245 East Center street while members of the family were absent. A traveling bag owned by Mrs. E. A. Jensen of Wilmington, Ill., was taken. It contained women's apparel. The burglar also took a traveling bag and a overnight bag owned by Mrs. Bever.

Entrance to the Bever residence was thought to have been gained by using a skeleton key to open a door on the west side of the house, according to the police report.

Committee Report Estimates
Compromise Proposals Yield
$829,000,000 a Year.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 2—A determination to vote against passage of any tax bill was expressed today by Senate Republicans attending a party conference on revenue legislation.

Senators attending the meeting said their strategy probably would be to support the finance committee compromise tax plan in preference to the house bill or any other proposal, and then vote against it ultimately.

They said their opposition to final approval, even of the compromise, was based on a belief that a tax bill is unnecessary, especially if a greater effort was made to curtail government expenditures. They also expressed a conviction that insufficient time had been allowed to work out details of a sound measure.

Net Yield as $429,000,000
Earlier, the finance committee in a majority report estimated the compromise measure would produce $829,000,000 of permanent and temporary revenue in a year.

A finance subcommittee was meeting, meanwhile, to discuss a possibility of adding to the tax bill a provision for continuing the sugar quota law, amended in an effort to limit possible supreme court objections.

"This is $100,000 more than the house bill," the majority committee report said, "and will simply take care of the permanent revenue of $400,000,000 requested by the President and the temporary revenue for the next fiscal year."

President Roosevelt asked for $40,000,000 of temporary funds to be raised over two or three years. The report was filed as Senate Republicans assembled to terminate their attitude toward the controversial legislation, and the senate bill prepared in open debate on it.

Assailed by Minority
Preceding the filing of majority views on the tax measure, two minority reports had assailed the bill in one sense. Hatfield, Republican of Delaware, accused the government of "extravagance."

Senator Black, Democrat of Alabama, and La Follette, Progressive of Wisconsin, issued another minority report criticizing the measure as one which would deal with a "wholly unnecessary and deadly blow" at small corporations and small stockholders.

The majority report, vigorously assailing the bill as passed by the house, said the finance committee plan would produce more stable revenue.

It conceded that the house measure would produce greater return during periods of "extreme prosperity," but argued that the committee program would bring in a greater yield during normal periods and depression years.

Presbyterians Ask Dr. Harry C. Finney of Fayetteville, Ark., To Take Pulpit.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, June 2—The congregation of the First Presbyterian church, in a special meeting Sunday after the morning services, voted to extend a call to Dr. Harry C. Finney of Fayetteville, Ark.

Dr. Finney, who filled the pulpit here on two occasions recently during the absence of Rev. Carl Winters, had previously indicated to members of the session that he would accept the call if it was extended.

No other candidates were considered by the session and by the congregation in their selection of Dr. Finney to succeed Rev. Carl Winters who resigned to accept a call to the First Presbyterian church at Troy.

Dr. Finney is a native of North Bloomfield township in Morrow county and held a number of pastorates before going to Arkansas. At Fayetteville he was active in the college and was one of the state leaders of the church, serving at one time as a moderator of the church. A committee of three was named to extend the call. H. J. Miller will represent the session, F. I. Glavin, the trustees and C. W. McFarland the congregation.

After five years of experimenting chemists have invented a material that looks and acts like soap but is said to be superior to the genuine article.

JUDGE OKAYS UTILITY REPORT

Action in Winding Up Business of Three Companies Approved by Court.

Common Pleas Judge Hector R. Young yesterday approved the final report of the trustees in liquidation of the Buckeye Public Service Co., the West Jefferson Power & Light Co., and the Ashville Light & Power Co., winding up the business of the utilities, which ceased to operate last winter.

The three companies, together with a fourth utility, the Central Utilities Service Co., now in the process of liquidation, formerly had their headquarters in Marion when this city was the headquarters for Inland properties in Ohio. The concerns which were owned principally by the Chase National Bank of New York City, sold their property last December, among other Ohio utility companies, the Ohio Power Co., the Ohio Public Service Co., the Columbus Railway, Power & Light Co., and the Dayton Power & Light Co.

Judge Young yesterday discharged the trustees after approving their report. The trustees, M. J. O'Connell, Harold J. Grigsby of Marion, and E. A. Snider of Dayton, said they have wound up the affairs of the three companies and distributed the assets remaining after payment of the expenses of liquidation.

J. Malcolm Stollitz of the law firm of Guthrie, Stollitz & Guthrie, attorneys for the trustees, said today the affairs of the Central Utilities Service Co. also are wound up except for two suits for judgments pending against the company. One suit was brought by Clara Leuthold of Bucyrus, and is now pending in the state supreme court and the other was filed by Walton Leuthold, also of Bucyrus, and is pending in common pleas court here.

At the time the four companies were sold The Associated Press reported that the sale disposed of all of the Ohio Inland properties owned by the Chase National bank.

SENATE OKAYED AID BILL IN CONFERENCE

Among changes the senate made in the bill as passed by the house some time ago were:

The relief fund is given to President Roosevelt in lump sum, instead of being allotted directly to Hopkins.

Secretary Ickes' PWA is permitted to use $300,000,000 for grants to local agencies to carry on public works, grants not to exceed 40 per cent of construction costs.

To Continue Ship Canal

The President is permitted to continue the giant Erie ship canal engineering boards of review.

In last-minute senate voting, the United States conference of mayors won a victory. After Mayor La Guardia of New York assailed a provision limiting the PWA grants to 30 per cent of a project's cost, the senate boosted the figure to 40 per cent.

Here are other major provisions of the deficiency bill outside of the $1,425,000,000 in relief:

Appropriations for a number of other agencies including $308,000,000 for the civilian conservation corps; $485,000,000 for administration of the social security act; $41,100,000 for the Tennessee valley authority and $40,000,000 for the postoffice department.

The bill also included a number of limitations on expenditure of the relief fund, which the $1,425,000,000 would be allocated tentatively as follows:

Highways, streets and roads, $413,250,000.

Public buildings, $158,750,000.

Parks and recreational facilities, $158,750,000.

Public utilities, sewers, etc., $171,000,000.

Flood control, etc., $128,250,000.

White collar project, $85,000,000.

Women's project, $85,000,000.

Miscellaneous projects, $71,250,000.

National youth administration, $71,250,000.

Rural rehabilitation and farmer relief, $85,000,000.

The bill provides none of the money shall be used for projects which cannot be completed without additional funds. It prohibits relief payments to aliens illegally admitted or those who have not applied for United States citizenship. Veterans bonus certificates could not be considered in determining whether they were eligible for relief.

The biggest addition to the total carried in the deficiency bill was an amendment by Sen. Hayden, Democrat of Arizona, adding $57,000,000 for western reclamation projects.

Sen. Bulkley, Democrat of Ohio, voted against the bill. It was announced that Sen. Donahay, Democrat of Ohio, who was absent, would have voted against it.

MARION GIVES $475 TO MEMORIAL FUND

Six Day Collection at Ohio Theater Yields $211.

Patrons of the Ohio theater contributed $211 to the Will Rogers Memorial fund drive conducted last week at Marion's two largest theaters. J. J. Huchner said this morning the four-day drive at the Palace theater brought contributions of $195, and this amount, with $55 given by residents last fall, and the sum raised in the six-day drive at the Ohio theater, brought the Marion county total to $345.

The money will go to the national fund to erect a Will Rogers Memorial hospital at Saranac Lake, N. Y., for members of the stage and screen profession.

The drive in the theaters was sponsored by George E. Plancher, manager of the Palace, Mr. Huchner, and Fred W. Warner, chairman of the Marion county Will Rogers Memorial committee.

REBELS SEIZE FORT IN NICARAGUAN WAR

Stronghold Last Objective of Army Insurgents Opposed to Present Rulers.

By The Associated Press. MANAGUA, Nicaragua, June 2.—National army leaders, in rebellion against the government of President Juan B. Sacasa, announced today loyal troops had raised a white flag over the fort at Leon.

The defenders of Leon had held out for three days against troops commanded by Gen. Anastasio Somoza, chief of the national army. Gen. Somoza himself, was reported to be entering the fort to accept the surrender.

The fort, called Aconasco, was the final military objective of the national guard.

The guard issued a bulletin declaring peace prevailed elsewhere throughout the 14 departments of this Central American republic and former authorities were being removed "due to the wish of the public."

President Sacasa, with his own bodyguard, still held out in the presidential palace atop Tiscapa hill, but an armistice prevailed in the capital while the diplomatic corps searched for a practical settlement between the government and the national guard.

The fort commanders insisted they should take orders only "from the president, thereby violating the national guard rule that the guard should be the republic's sole armed body."

The capital generally was quiet, commercial firms operated normally and no censorship was imposed on outgoing dispatches.

COURT REFUSES TO HEAR SILICOSIS SUIT

was employed at the Commercial Steel Casting Co. from May 1, 1932 to Aug. 1, 1935, with the exception of perhaps one-third of that period, when the plant did not require his services. He says he worked in the foundry and that he has become permanently and totally disabled since leaving the employ of the concern.

The other five silicosis suits are for $125,000 each. They are C. A. McGuire against the Osgood Co., Sherman Brammer against the Alloy Cast Steel Co., Robert T. Dohy against the Alloy Cast Steel Co., Francis Parlow against the Marion Steam Shovel Co., and Delpha Riffe, as administratrix of the estate of the late Hilton B. Riffe, against the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

ROOSEVELT URGES NEW SUGAR SETUP

WASHINGTON, June 2.—A system of gradually benefit payments under the sugar production control law in proportion to the size of farms effected was recommended by President Roosevelt today in a letter to congressional authors of legislation extending the act.

The chief executive suggested that steps be taken to apply the same principle under the new soil conservation plan.

FLORIDA DEMOCRATS MARK LONG BALLOTS

Interest Centers on Gubernatorial Race in Which 14 Aspirants Are Entered.

By The Associated Press. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 2.—Florida's Democrats voted today amid a chorus of victory predictions to elect a primary field with many candidates and few issues. A record ballot of 300,000 or more was expected.

Interest centered on the gubernatorial race where no more than two of 14 candidates could survive the counting. It was generally expected that none of the untold field would secure a majority, thus forcing the two top men into a runoff three weeks hence.

Next in general appeal were the congressional races, all five incumbents facing opposition.

The presidential preference voting drew little attention. J. S. Coutermarsh, former New Hampshire dentist, was running against President Roosevelt. The state's 14 Democratic delegates already have been pledged to the President by convention action.

BRITISH MAY SET SEA MARK ON WAY BACK

Officers Refuse to Comment but Engineer Believes He'll Beat Normandy.

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 2.—The Queen Mary failed to do it on the way over, but she may on the way back. Reluctant written all over their features, officials of the new Cunard superliner, which came into her slip yesterday after an Atlantic crossing requiring 42 minutes more than the French Normandie, would make no predictions on the return voyage of performance of the vessel.

But Chief Engineer Llewellyn Roberts, who stood guard over the great motors during her voyage of 4 days, 2 hours and 24 minutes, was less conservative than his superiors.

"I think we'll beat the Normandie's record on the return," he commented.

The Queen leaves Friday morning on the return trip to England.

MANSFIELD SCHOOL BOARD LOSES FIGHT

COLUMBUS, O., June 2.—The board of education of the city of Mansfield must pay the city for water used by the public schools since Jan. 1, 1931, Atty. Gen. John W. Bricker advised the state board of accounting today.

The Ohio supreme court held, a few months ago, that a state law requiring municipalities to furnish free water to boards of education was unconstitutional throughout the state. For many years prior to the decision, it was constitutional in some sections of the state and unconstitutional in others because of a peculiar quirk in the Constitution.

CHARTER PRESENTED SCOUT TROOP NO. 18

Salem Church Group Wins Ten-Year Program Award Second Time.

Boy Scout Troop 18, sponsored by the Salem Evangelical church, held its annual meeting last night in the Sunday school rooms, with parents and friends attending.

Following the meeting, a regular troop opening ceremony was conducted under the direction of Walter Lloyd, senior patrol leader. The annual charter was presented by the sponsoring group by W. K. Hamor, neighborhood commissioner, who also presented membership certificates to the troop committee and troop officers.

The national 10-year program award was presented by Arthur S. Brooks, scout executive, who complimented the troop on winning the recognition the second year. The award is given to those troops which show a net increase in membership and re-register 80 per cent of their previous year's scouts.

A tenderfoot investiture ceremony was conducted and Donald Mahaffey was given his tenderfoot badge and inducted as a new member of the troop. The ceremony was in charge of Rev. Ahrens. William Lloyd and Walter Lloyd, Mr. Brooks introduced Mr. Hamor, who has been appointed neighborhood commissioner in charge of Troop 7, 14 and 18. William was a former scout in Troop 5. Members of the troop committee are J. H. Todd, chairman, C. W. Coffe, William Lloyd, H. C. Ahrens, and Norris Head. W. E. Maffett is scoutmaster, with Charles Knachel and P. S. Midiam as assistants. The troop meets each Monday night in the Sunday school rooms of the church.

MUSIC FESTIVAL TO BE BROADCAST

Marion music lovers will have an opportunity of hearing music from the Talbot festival to be held by the Westminster choir from all parts of the country, at Princeton, N. J., Saturday, according to radio announcements. The program will be broadcast at 3 p. m. over station WEAJ. Members will be among the approximately 3,000 singers taking part in the festival program which is an annual affair.

ERROR IN AGE FIGURE

In an account of Marion Memorial day services in yesterday's issue of The Star, the age of L. A. Canham of 387 Mt. Vernon avenue, one of four Civil war veterans participating in the service, was listed erroneously as 73. Mr. Canham is 92 years of age.

SHE'S SWEETHEART OF SIGMA CHI

That young lady often honored in song, "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," is none other than Miss Harriet Rorick of Portland, Ore., beautiful blond co-ed at University of Oregon, who was awarded the title in a campus popularity contest.

BANDITS GET $50,000 IN NEW YORK HOLDUP

Halt Bank Messengers in Bronx and Flew With Loot; No Guns Fired.

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 2.—Fifty thousand dollars changed hands today in a daring, swiftly executed holdup of a bank messengers' car at Claremont parkway and Washington avenue, the Bronx.

The money was in packages in the custody of Theodore Frank, assistant manager of the National Safety Bank Trust Co., and Arthur Tricker.

They were on their way to another branch of the bank. They stopped for a red light, unaware of any danger. Another car suddenly drew alongside. They saw three men, armed with revolvers. They heard the order to hand over the money.

No shots were fired. The bandits threw the packages into their own car and the driver sped away.

K. D. CIRCLE HEARS CONVENTION REPORT

Mrs. Francis Crow, state president of the King's Daughters, gave a detailed report of the golden anniversary of the organization which was celebrated recently at an international convention in Richmond, Va., when she spoke at a meeting of the Whiteoak circle last night at the home of Mrs. J. B. Bray of Forest street. Thirty-five members attended. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bray and the associate hostess, Miss Winona Hughes.

Arrangements were made for a picnic June 16 at the home of Mrs. Carrie Garberson of South State street.

On Monday night, June 15, the Whiteoak and Circle of Service groups of the First Presbyterian church will entertain the City Union of King's Daughters at the church.

Presidency, Highest Post of Honor Calls for Long Hours, Many Worries

By The Associated Press. WHY do anyone want to be President?

He lives in a house provided by the state, but two-thirds of it is a museum.

He is surrounded by guards—secret service men for himself, a special police force for the house and grounds.

His mornings are given over to conferences.

There are cabinet meetings twice a week.

He may lunch at his desk so business will not halt.

Routine official writings exceed 25,000 papers annually, an average of 90 a day.

Afternoons see fewer visitors, but more business.

He presides at formal dinners. Ordinary dinners and luncheons at the White House take on a social-political aspect due to the exigencies of time.

Opportunity for a simple family gathering around the dining table is relatively rare.

The White House executive office employ 161 persons. Servants number 20.

TO DISPLAY WORK OF SEWING CENTER

Products of WPA Women's Project to Be Shown.

Marion residents will have their first opportunity to see the quality of work done at the WPA sewing center on North State street the last of this week when Mrs. Jennie Crane, supervisor, arranges a display in a window of the Uhlir-Phillips Co. store at Center and Prospect streets.

The display will be made Thursday and will remain in the window over the weekend.

Plans today were to include children's dresses, men's and boys' shirts, women's and young girls' dresses, baby clothes, and problems.

There are at present 147 women employed at the center, making clothing for families on relief. The women have study books and are required to keep notebooks.

Those whose work has been approved by Mrs. Crane have been permitted to enroll in emergency school classes which H. C. Roost of Bruah Ridge conducts at the center. On Thursdays there are classes in English, mathematics, civics and economics, and on Tuesdays there is a home nursing class.

PORTSMOUTH MEN LOSE COURT APPEAL

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 2.—Pharaoh W. Johnson, president of the P. W. Johnson Construction Co., a Kentucky concern, William Dow Johnson, superintendent, and Orville E. Sellers, an employee, lost an appeal to the supreme court yesterday.

The court refused to interfere with the decision of a circuit court which approved a two-year prison sentence and $1,000 fines imposed in connection with a late low bid on a contract for the Portsmouth, O., postoffice. The three were convicted on charges they schemed to defraud the government.

ZIONCHECK VISITED BY ELUSIVE BRIDE

Spends Half Hour With Representatives but Refuses to Tell Where She Lives.

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 2.—Mrs. Marion A. Zioncheck, 21-year-old bride who left her husband of a month last Saturday, spent a half hour with him today at Gallinger hospital, where the Washington state representative was lodged by police for mental observation.

Mrs. Zioncheck also talked with Dr. Joseph Gilbert, District of Columbia alienist.

The former Ruby Louise Mix, who left a position as PWA stenographer to marry Zioncheck, gave Dr. Gilbert an address where she has been living since she walked out on her husband in the midst of a hilarious party in the Zioncheck apartment. Dr. Gilbert said the address was supplied with the understanding that Mrs. Zioncheck's whereabouts must not be made public.

A feverish search throughout the city for his wife, which included two calls at the White House executive offices, preceded Zioncheck's arrest and commitment to Gallinger yesterday for tests to show whether his mind was sound.

Talking to newsmen from a window of the institution, Zioncheck said he knew of his wife's visit.

"As far as I know everything is fine between us," he said. "There never has been anything wrong from the start."

As Zioncheck reclined in a room at Gallinger Municipal hospital, Dr. Edgar A. Bocock, superintendent, said the physicians may require one day or several to complete their observations.

"The first thing he needs," said Dr. Bocock, "is complete rest. We are trying to give him that. Mr. Zioncheck is cooperating in every way."

BRITISH FIND FORMER SECRETARY GUILTY

Decide He Disclosed Budget Secrets Previous to Their Publication.

By The Associated Press. LONDON, June 2.—The budget tribunal announced today it found J. H. Thomas, resigned colonial secretary, had disclosed the secrets of the British budget previous to publication in the house of commons.

The tribunal report stated there was an unauthorized disclosure of the budget information by Thomas and that use was made of this information by two men for the purpose of private gain.

The two men named were Alfred Bates, advertising agency executive, and Sir Alfred Butt, a member of parliament and horse-racing enthusiast.

The tribunal, headed by Justice Porter, cleared all civil employees and printers, and all cabinet ministers save Thomas of having disclosed any knowledge of the budget secrets.

The tribunal cleared the former colonial secretary's son, Leslie M. Thomas, of all blame, expressing the unanimous opinion he neither knew nor suspected Bates had improper information in the budget secrets.

(Leslie Thomas, as an insurance broker, conducted business with Bates when the latter bought insurance against tax increases announced in the government budget.)

Guests were Mrs. C. H. Artz, Mrs. Elizabeth Elsie, Mrs. Charles Coon, Mrs. Henry Coon, Mrs. Bethel Van Meter, Mrs. Claude Cates, Mrs. Pearl Wilson, Mrs. Clay Wilson, Mrs. James King, Mrs. Harry Williams, Mrs. E. D. Wylie, Mrs. L. J. Poe and Miss Ruth Artz.

SOUTH CHINA OPENS WAR AGAINST NORTH

By The Associated Press. SHANGHAI, June 2.—Chinese authorities announced late tonight that the south China movement at Canton had declared war against the national Chinese government demanding the latter order a national war against Japan.

The 21-year-old tenant farmer was held in voluntary custody while Sheriff E. D. Shepherd investigated his account.

Spillman said he was whisked away from his Carroll county home at midnight Sunday by two men in two motor cars. He was driven 30 miles to a hotel and held there for several days.

He was gagged with a handkerchief, his arms were tied behind his back with a belt, the pants were under his arm pits and he was suspended from the tree.

CLARIBON MEETING

A meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the M. E. church at Claribon will be held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. H. Humes of the Williams road. E. O. Haley, president, will preside.

STATE FAVORS LANDON

HARTFORD, Conn., June 1.—State Chairman J. C. Rorick said today that the state would favor Landon in the national convention at Cleveland said Connecticut would cast its 19 votes for Gov. A. C. Landon of Kansas for the presidential nomination.

NEW WASHINGTON SCOUTS TO MEET

Annual Charter Presentation Set for Tonight.

The second annual charter will be presented to Boy Scout troop 32 of New Washington by C. Victor Vollrath of Bucyrus district scout commissioner, at meeting of the troop in the American Legion hall at New Washington tonight.

The troop will also receive the national silver jubilee award which will be presented by Mr. Vollrath, and given to all troops that were organized during the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. Seventeen members compose the troop and are under the leadership of George Van Orsdall, scoutmaster, and E. R. Shoup, assistant scoutmaster.

Members of the troop committee are J. S. Harrington, chairman, Charles Schenck, J. Bechtel, Leon Shelton, H. Barth, J. F. Ruttker, Otto S. Heydinger and Albert H. Horn.

DICKINSON, NEW DEAL FOE, LEADS IN IOWA

Wins Comfortable Margin in Six Way Race for G. O. P. Senatorial Nomination.

By The Associated Press. DES MOINES, June 2.—Sen. Lester J. Dickinson, persistent critic of the new deal and a candidate for his party's presidential nomination, held a wide lead today in Iowa's Republican senatorial primary.

With 1,089 of the state's 2,442 precincts reported from yesterday's primary elections, Dickinson led a field of six contenders with 45,353 votes, or 33.1 per cent of the total.

His closest competitor was former State W. W. Brookhart, who had 26,452 votes. Guy Linville, Cedar Rapids attorney, was third with 15,258 and Edwin C. Manning, three-times Ottumwa mayor, was fourth with 14,563. The other two candidates were distanced.

Gov. Clyde L. Herring, Iowa's first Democratic governor in a half century, was second in the Republican senatorial primary.

Herring gathered 32,917 votes in 1,115 precincts. Ullrich had 26,410. A third candidate trailed.

George Wilson, Des Moines Republican, gained 61,260 votes in 1,178 precincts in the Republican gubernatorial primary. John Grimes, Oskosh editor, totaled 45,650 votes and George E. Call, Sioux City investment banker, had 19,585.

Nelson G. Kruechel, Iowa's lieutenant governor, apparently had a safe lead over Richard Mitchell of Fort Dodge, Ia., national Democratic committee man and Iowa supreme court justice. In the race for nomination as Democratic candidate

CHINESE TENSE UNDER INVASION

Students in Peiping and Tientsin Out on Three-Day Protest Strike.

By The Associated Press. SHANGHAI, June 2.—North China seethed restlessly under the mounting weight of Japanese military control today.

Sputtered by officers of the valiant 20th Route army, defenders of Great Wall passed during the Japanese invasion of 1922, the leader of the Hsiao-Chang military council was ready to adopt a sterner stand against the armed expansion of Nippon.

This was the reported decision of Gen. Sung Chieh-Yuan, following lengthy conferences in Peiping. Gen. Sung became head of the semi-autonomous council for the two great northern provinces six months ago.

Students in both Peiping and Tientsin, declaring a three-day strike, forced complete suspension of public and private schools and colleges.

Young members of the National Salvation association met in convention to weight their action in the face of heavy Japanese reinforcements for North China garrisons, bringing the total of Japanese soldiers in the area to an estimated 10,000 or more.

But Japan gave no indications of retreating.

Her soldiers rushed completion of new barracks for 500 men at Tientsin, vital communications center 10 miles southwest of Peiping. There were rumors of contemplated Japanese outposts at Ching-tsin, to give the insular "visitors" even more complete control of the rail lines below Peiping.

Troops Swarm Into Inner Mongolia

By The Associated Press. DOLNOR, Inner Mongolia, June 2.—Over ancient caravan routes established by Genghis Khan, Tamerlane and Kublai Khan when Mongolia was a great empire, Japanese army authorities and trucks are swarming today in ever increasing numbers.

Chinese officials regard this as part of a Japanese plan to make Inner Mongolia, claimed by China, a "second Manchukuo" in order to cut off Soviet Russia from China.

As Mongolia's almost limitless deserts, severe winters and lack of raw materials make Inner Mongolia unsuitable for Japanese colonization, Japanese admit their penetration of this part of Asia is military rather than commercial.

NATIVE OF LARUE DIES IN AKRON

Special to The Star.

LARUE, O., June 2.—Dale Hoke Kemper, 39, native of Larue, died of tuberculosis Sunday in a convalescent home in Akron. He was born Jan. 21, 1897, in Larue, surviving a son Richard in Akron, the mother, Mrs. D. E. Kemper of Larue, a brother in Chicago and two sisters, one in Akron and Mrs. Golda Lauer of Larue. The body will be cremated in Cleveland and the ashes will be brought to Larue for private burial in the family lot at the Larue cemetery. Time of the service has not been received.

BANKS GRAB BILLION IN TREASURY BONDS

Morgenthau Labels Speedy Oversubscription of Issue as Great Success.

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 2.—Speedy oversubscription was recorded today as the treasury's bonds were closed on the latest cash offering of $1,000,000,000 in notes and bonds.

Secretary Morgenthau described the financing as "a great success."

"I am more than pleased," he said, at a press conference after the bonds had been open only one business day. "They simply put the cash on the barrel-head and money talks louder than anything else."

The cabinet member would not estimate the amount of the oversubscription. Applications for either the $600,000,000 in 10-18 year 2% percent bonds or $400,000,000 in five-year 1% per cent notes mailed by last midnight were to be accepted.

The books for the separate conversion offering will remain open until midnight tomorrow.

The $2,000,734,400 total offering was the largest in peace-time history and carried record low interest rates.

FIVE WAY BATTLE ON AMONG G. O. P.

Special to The Star.

COLUMBUS, O., June 2.—The Republican national committee's race shaped up into a five-cornered fight today. The fifth candidate to enter the contest was Frank F. Taggart of Massillon, known in the party for his "money raising" campaigns. The others are Walter F. Brown of Toledo, present committeeman; State Chairman Ed D. Schorr; Charles R. Frederickson of Coshocton, and James N. Linton of Columbus.

SCHOOL SETUP CALLED TERROR

Adams County Prosecutor To Probe Charge Fear Rules Educational System.

By The Associated Press. MANCHESTER, O., June 2.—Adams County Prosecutor J. W. Lang prepared today to investigate charges contained in a formal statement by E. L. Porter, superintendent of schools, that "fear, intimidation and threats mark conduct of the educational system here."

Manchester, on the Ohio river, is a neighboring community to West Union, county seat, where several weeks ago 500 pupils staged a walkout following alleged school board differences over rehiring of instructors.

There also, an explosive was set off in the yard of the home of Bruce McHenry, school board president.

Members of the school board have not indicated whether Porter would be retained. He came here a year ago from Grandview, a suburb of Columbus, and, said Lang, "has had a successful administration, so far as I know."

Members of the board could not be reached.

In his formal statement, Porter said that "one teacher in Manchester school received a letter threatening her if she did not contribute."

"This is an intolerable situation and one which has been called to the attention of the state director of education for investigation."

"Fear, intimidation and threats have demoralized the schools. Professional qualifications, merit, length of successful service are all at the whim of politicians usually supplanting those teachers of merit with those of lesser qualification those who can be used as tools."

JERSEY'S GOVERNOR FIRES SCHWARZKOPF

Kimberling, Prison Warden, Named as Successor in Lindbergh Dispute.

By The Associated Press. TRENTON, N. J., June 2.—Gov. Harold G. Hoffman capped his criticism of the Lindbergh kidnap-murder investigation today by depositing Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf as superintendent of the New Jersey state police—a force he organized and led for 15 years.

The governor sent to the senate at the name of Col. Mark O. Kimberling, state prison warden and once Schwarzkopf's deputy.

Kimberling was named to succeed the man who directed the police search which ended in the great conviction and execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann as the Lindbergh baby slayer. Kimberling supervised the execution.

Some observers believed strong sentiment in the state for Schwarzkopf's reappointment—evidenced by petitions from farm groups and women's clubs, and individual demands by private citizens—would lead to a senate fight against Kimberling's confirmation.

Administration-supporting senators and the governor's own associates were confident, however, Kimberling would be confirmed. They said the governor had been assured of the necessary 11 votes before forwarding the appointment.

NEVADA SCOUTS TO PRESENT PLAY

Will Feature Annual Charter Presentation Tonight.

A three-act scout play entitled, "After Dark," will feature the annual scout night of Troop 37 of Nevada to be held at the Nevada High school auditorium tonight.

Presentation of the annual troop charter by David Greger of Upper Sandusky, assistant district commissioner, and award of membership certificates to the scoutmaster and committee by Judge Russell H. Kear of Upper Sandusky, chairman of the Wyandot district court of honor, will be included on the program.

Following the flag ceremony and pledge of allegiance, the invocation will be given by Rev. K. R. Roberts, and the welcome address will be made by Homer Kuenzli, chairman of the troop committee. Scoutmaster, Edwin Steinhilber will conduct an installation ceremony for new members and tenderfoot badges will be presented by Rev. J. L. Nuzum.

The National silver jubilee award will be presented to Troop 37 by Arthur S. Brooks, scout executive of the Harding area council. The troop now has 15 members and is planning an active summer program. Rev. K. R. Roberts, and H. G. Fox are members of the troop committee in charge of the affair.

Height Increase Thrills Victim of Shrinking Spell

By The Associated Press. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 1.—A quarter-inch gain in stature doesn't seem like a thing to become excited about, but to Hans Johnson it's the best news in years.

The reason is that Johnson, while victim of a strange malady, lost 10½ inches in height over a period of years up to last July.

Now he has quit "shrinking," and he believes he will regain some of the weight and height lost during a gradual contraction. Physicians attributed it to the slapping of calcium through an over-active parathyroid gland.

Following nearly a year's treatment by University of Minnesota doctors, Johnson said today, "I think they are on the right track and are doing the right thing. I feel pretty good about it. I think I'll make it now."

Originally 5 feet 10½ inches tall, he was only five feet last summer. Now, he says, he stands at 5 feet ¼ inch.

For much of the period of the treatments, Johnson has been on a calcium diet. Now he is back home on an ordinary diet—plus a quart of milk a day and cod liver oil concentrate.

ROOSEVELT RELATIVE ENDS HIS OWN LIFE

Fiannce's Breaking of Engagement Reported as Cause of Tragedy in Argentina.

By The Associated Press. RESISTENCIA, Argentina, June 2.—The body of Robert E. Delano, second cousin of President Roosevelt, was prepared to be sent to Buenos Aires today after he died from what police said was a self-inflicted pistol wound.

Delano, 21, shot himself in the mouth Sunday night, the police commissioner said, at the town of Barranqueras in the Argentine Chaco.

BORAH AND LANDON MEN IN CLEVELAND

Both Confident Their Man Will Be Nominated as They Rush Plans.

By The Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., June 2.—With supporters of Sen. William E. Borah and Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas already established in hotel headquarters here, Republican leaders gathered today to complete final arrangements for the Republican national convention next week.

A meeting of the committee on arrangements was scheduled for today. The national committee will go into session tomorrow to prepare the formal roll of delegates for the convention. Contests in the delegations from South Carolina, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana must be decided.

Representatives of both Landon and Borah expressed confidence that their candidate would be nominated.

"I am as confident as I was in Washington," said Carl G. Bachmann of West Virginia, Borah's manager.

John M. Hamilton, Landon's manager, expressed his confidence that the Kansas governor would receive the nomination, but declined to estimate how many ballots would be taken.

"That is another question," he said, "I don't care to say anything about that."

TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1936

Receding Goal.

The treasury's June financial program—a $2,050,000,000 borrowing program to operate the government until next September—is an occasion to direct attention to the fact that the new deal lacks a definite fiscal policy.

It has seemed at times, on the basis of official statements, that there was a fixed plan. It consisted in government spending to revive private spending, with the ultimate aim of reducing the former as the country emerged from the depression.

In this way, the budget was to be balanced by holding regular expenditures in check and reducing emergency spending. As the government's revenue increased, deficits would decrease. Unfortunately, the plan has not been followed. The administration claims it has been conquering the depression, but its financial management doesn't prove it.

The goal of a balanced budget has proved to be a receding one. Regular expenditures have not been held in check. Emergency spending has not subsided. On the eve of a new fiscal year, with a reduction in the spending program expected, there is no curtailment of spending in sight. As Sen. Byrd of Virginia has pointed out, "the administration proposes to spend $600,000,000 more for ordinary expenses and for relief in the fiscal year beginning July 1 next than for the present fiscal year."

The country has been willing to go along with the Roosevelt administration's spending program in the belief that it embodied a definite plan for bringing income and outgo into balance at some fixed point in the future. Evidence that the goal is being permitted to recede by a loose check on expenditures is something which will require explaining by administration defenders in the campaign.

June and Moon.

Marriage isn't all beer and skittles, billing and cooing and living in heaven in a cottage with chintz curtains. So says Common Pleas Judge George W. Kerr after five months on the domestic relations court bench in Cleveland. In that time he has handled 2,560 divorce and allied cases and concluded that marriage presents problems of partnership, self-control, of consideration, of bringing up children competently.

Yet in this merry month just beginning, June and moon, love and dove, you and true are some of the ecstatic rhymes that will be singing through young hearts from coast to coast. Unless human nature has changed drastically since the days when there were two chickens in every garage, this month thousands of young women are going to be dashing hither and yon putting the finishing touches to their June bride trousseau. With starlight in their eyes, they wait palpitations for the day when they can trade in their old name for a new one that will change their whole life.

Cynics and realistic judges have a right to point to the rocks ahead. In fact, if all the couples to be linked this month weighed the pros and cons and tried to chart their course before starting, many more of them would enjoy smoother sailing on the trip ahead. But, happily, the fear of disaster won't deter many of them. If the possibility of failure always had deterred Americans, this country still might be just another colony.

A toast to the June brides and grooms!

United We Stand.

If congress would act upon his suggestion, says Rep. Sirovich of New York, all our troubles would melt away. The "over production" problem would be conquered, unemployment banished and many other blessings flow to the people—if only the United States and Canada could be merged, thus establishing "the greatest English-speaking nation in the world."

In Rep. Sirovich's dream there is a grand vision of unity. Canada would have access to ice free ports all the year around; railroad and highway systems of the two countries could be coordinated to great advantage; capital and labor would flow freely across the border. With these and many other advantages springing from the union, nothing could stop us—so Dr. Sirovich declares—from being preeminent.

It's a grand idea, even if touched with the nightmarish tinge of most visions—and even if other persons have mentioned it before and got nowhere with it. Then, of course, there's the trifling difficulty of getting the parties concerned to consent to the wedding. From comments already made, it appears as though pride on both sides of the border might be aroused to the point of resistance.

Maybe Rep. Sirovich, as an adjournment-minded congress ignores his idea, will have to content himself with the reflection that it's fine to be on good terms with one's neighbors but it's a risky business to suggest living with each other.

Almost Estranged.

Sen. Borah's final speech as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, in which he was to strike his last and hardest blows at the opposition, turned out to be disappointing. It was made painfully plain that the senator had no hard blows to deliver; his strength had been spent. He had nothing in reserve.

It was made plain, also, that Sen. Borah cannot be of more than limited usefulness to the Republican party. That is to say that he has maneuvered himself into a position from which he scarcely will be able to give his blessing to either the candidate or the platform. Although it is the party which is supposed to feel unhappy about this, it does not seem likely the senator can be very happy either.

He cannot go over to the Democratic party without making himself ridiculous, and there is no good reason for believing he would switch parties under favorable circumstances. He cannot stay in the Republican party unless either he or it makes considerable concessions. It is a question as to what, exactly, Sen. Borah can do. He has been a busy finding fault with everybody else that he has neglected to make a political nest for himself. It is as much a commentary on his own nature as on the nature of political parties that he is almost estranged from all existing organizations. The senator has surveyed the political parade and found that everybody is out of step but him.

Coincidence.

When Republicans are convening at Cleveland and getting plenty of newspaper lineage, President Roosevelt will be competing for the headlines on a western speaking tour starting June 8. Since he will be away from Washington for some time, it is likely congress will adjourn before he leaves or regains for the duration of the Republican convention. It is not quite so apparent why Mr. Roosevelt has chosen this particular time to travel.

Assessing his trip is not political in nature but that it will be devoted mostly to visiting historic places and to making speeches appropriate for such occasions, the President explained the setting of the date grew out of the fact he must make the trip at this time or postpone it indefinitely. Plans for the trip, he added, were made several months ago and were revived when it was realized congress would not be in session at the time of the Republican convention.

Annual Itch.

Now is the time for all good Americans to give way to the annual itch—to be bitten by the vacation bug.

Now is the time for the serious minded business executive to stop talking about unit costs of production and to take an hour out to pore over the enticing food of vacation literature that's piled up on his desk.

Now is the time for his secretary to hope and pray the boss is not planning to go to Maine or the Smokies the first two weeks in July because she has a glamorous trip to Washington and New York all figured out for the same time.

Now is the time for the ledger-drunk clerk to lift up his head and dream dreams of a stream where the fish ask to be taken in and the crisp mountain air breathes new life into him.

Now is the time for John and Mary to start figuring just how much stuff they're going to pile on that old trailer when they hit for the highways and the gypsy life.

Now is the time, even for newspaper men not to give a hang about the news of the world. It must be vacation time.

Sen. Borah's Stand Explained in Talk

To Be Blessed With Support of Idahoan, C. O. P. Standard Bearer Must Espouse Certain Principles.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Senator Borah's radio speech will rank as the most important utterance made by anybody on the Republican or Democratic side during this pre-convention campaign.

Those who are accustomed to look for personalities and not principles, those who expected Mr. Borah to denounce Gov. Landon or to announce a bolt from the ticket if the Kansas governor were nominated, missed the whole point of the Idaho senator's extraordinary effort to shape the destinies of his party at the most critical moment of its history.

What Senator Borah said, in effect, was this:

First, platforms are important but candidates are more important.

Second, conventions and whom they nominate are important but what the candidates themselves say after they are nominated is more important.

This means merely that, when the Cleveland convention is over, Senator Borah will reserve the right to examine the speeches of the nominee and determine for himself whether the issues are being made in conformity with the principles believed by the Idaho senator to be paramount.

If they are not, Mr. Borah will not support—because he cannot in conscience support—such a nominee. Neither will he support Mr. Roosevelt, whose policies are diametrically opposed to what Senator Borah believes.

In other words, if the next Republican nominee wants Mr. Borah to campaign for him, he must adopt the basic idea for which the Idaho senator stands. And Mr. Borah, moreover, believes he did in 1922 when, in the same manner, he refrained from supporting Mr. Hoover—that anybody who deviates from the anti-monopoly doctrine in 1936 is doomed to defeat and that likewise the Republican party may be doomed to extinction.

Now, what is this anti-monopoly doctrine and who disagrees with Mr. Borah about it? Unfortunately, in the short space of a 20-minute address over the radio, it was not possible to furnish all the background of the controversy nor to outline its implications. But, in a nutshell, Mr. Borah feels that concentrated economic power is just as bad as concentrated governmental power, and he might have added, a merger of the two means the destruction of all liberty of opportunity and brings Fascism.

It is true that Mr. Borah made general accusations as to the existence of monopoly which would have to be proved in court. More bigness is not monopoly. Price-fixing is a basic feature of monopoly, and when big and little units in business get together to fix prices—or to "stabilize" them, as the more fashionable phrase has it—there is danger to the system of individualism which Mr. Borah regards as essential to economic recovery.

Will Mr. Landon recognize the implications of this issue and make them his creed? A brief platform plank denouncing monopoly is far from adequate. What Mr. Borah demands is that the anti-monopoly doctrine be made the central theme of the whole campaign in order that the independent and the man of small business may have his opportunities to grow and make a profit increased instead of diminished.

It will be recalled that Mr. Borah fought the NRA on this ground and the NRA collapsed because it gave certain advantages to big business and tended toward price-fixing and the abolition of the competitive system.

There are some business men who want price-fixing—as, for instance, some of the coal operators. There are price-fixing advocates in the oil industry. To agree with your competition is often easier than to fight your competition. The Roosevelt administration, which has virtually abandoned the Sherman anti-trust laws, has shown signs of developing the cartel or monopoly system along the lines of the Hitler and Mussolini economic policies. Mr. Borah sees this coming and wants the public named to fight it tooth and nail. He regards it as so important that, if the Republican nominee pursues or straddles or submerges the issue and tries to carry water on both shoulders, Mr. Borah will not have his heart in the campaign nor his voice.

But can a man like Gov. Landon espouse the Borah doctrine? As an independent oil man, he knows what it is to fight larger units. Also he can accept, if he wishes, in its entirety the economic philosophy of a business leader like Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors, whose outstanding speeches last week are completely consistent with the anti-monopoly doctrine of the Idaho senator. In fact, they constituted perhaps a more detailed explanation of honest competition's advantages to the masses of consumers than was possible in Mr. Borah's discussion of the subject, which was largely from the viewpoint of governmental policy instead of economic evolution.

This correspondent has always disagreed with Mr. Borah on his foreign policy and believes that the senator is overlooking the fact that Fascism and monopoly and price-fixing all arise out of the consequences of domestic isolation or self-containment, which makes regimentation and rationing of production and employment inevitable. International cooperation, on the other hand, whether through the League of Nations or any other device of diplomatic usefulness that can assure us against war, means enlargement of trade and markets and gives stimulus to the competitive system.

Notwithstanding this paradox in Mr. Borah's reasoning, the speech is a challenge on the monopoly issue which the Democratic as well as the Republican party must meet, and on the exposition of the problem during the campaign, the translation of what it means to the average man by way of future opportunity and future jobs, will depend victory or defeat in November for the nominee of either the Cleveland or the Philadelphia convention.

really little inside excitement about it, except on the point of whether Mr. Roosevelt will relent.

Another feature of the strategic plan is that the leaders will continue to talk about adjourning June 8, and really plan to do it June 9 or 10.

The inside story of how John Hamilton got the job as nominator for Gov. Landon is material for a text book on success.

None of Landon's advisers wanted Hamilton to do the nominating. The task was thought to be of the type which William Allen White does best. Bill White has humanized Kansas itself, even convincing easterners, which is generally considered a major feat.

But Hamilton had an idea for a different type of nominating speech, not the old stock stuff about "men who..." but a simple statement of human facts.

He wrote out the speech carefully in advance, took it out to Gov. Landon, and got the job immediately.

Landon's announcement of the selection was a surprise to some of the bigwigs here, who have never appreciated that a good way to get a job is to prove you can do it better than any one else.

Gate Open

The best Republican people are behind the current talk about Senator Vandenberg as vice presidential candidate. They have other things in mind beyond Vandenberg's personal future. One of these is Senator Borah.

Some persons who have been more or less in Borah's confidence have believed all along that his real presidential candidate was Vandenberg. Early in the game, before Borah announced himself, he frequently said as much in private. Vandenberg generally retailed in kind and pronounced himself in favor of Borah.

This was before the campaign got so serious, but it has encouraged the belief here that the nomination of Vandenberg as vice presidential candidate will open the gate for Borah to walk into the Landon fold.

Retrospect

Borah's friends here have admired the way he has taken his primary discouragements. The fact that he personally knew from the first he would not win has not lessened their respect for the way he has conducted his campaign. He could not have known how bad it was going to be. And he did not know that he was going to get a raw deal from some of the local organizations, excited over the prospects of his own views.

Secretary Hints That Briston Plans to "Disappear"

SPRANG to my feet as I driven by some hidden spring as the youth in the receipt of from of Samuel Briston a letter addressed to come into the private office and speak to Miss Marshall.

From some hidden corner of memory, there flashed an echo of that name I had heard on Sam Briston's lips. When he called his office from our farm and I had cleared that she was a secretary deputed to the Briston interests and the family and that Helena valued her as much as did Helena's husband.

I knew why the instant I closed the door of the inner office he had me facing me and standing by the big desk at one end of the room was a woman of middle age middle height a bit on the plumpish side but presenting an effect of trim capable efficiency, that must have heartened her employer every time he looked at her.

Devoted to Job

There was more than efficiency I judged in the attractive face framed with pepper and salt hair which was turned attentively to me. And in the steady kindly blue eyes which looked out from that face there was the quality of selfless devotion to a job and an employer—a devotion which one knew instinctively was entirely devoid of romance.

Nothing ever phases Miss Briston. I had heard Samuel Briston say once and had heard Helena Briston comment upon the perfect poise of her husband a secretary in the most trying circumstances. But that poise was distinctly shaken now and there was something very like terror in the eyes looking into mine.

She stood squarely in front of the desk her hands behind her clasping it. From behind her a lazy little coil of smoke floated upward and from another corner of my memory another chance remark of Helena's leaped out.

Cause of Smoke

I know a business woman who Cleveland Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Artman of Hornell N. Y. and Miss Margaret Craig and Claude Tobin of Akron.

Miss Sue McCormick of Muncie Ind. is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Stauffer and family of Girard avenue.

There was a word other than "disappear" in her mind but I evaded it as she was doing.

If he confided in anyone it would be Harold I said. He has always guarded his wife from any trouble—or even annoyance—and he looks upon his daughter as a child. But of course you know those things better than I do.

I know them she admitted and I am afraid I sit down and let me tell you what has happened.

I sank down in the nearest chair with a feeling that I needed its support. She continued to lean against her desk but there was a tenseness in her attitude that told me her hands were gripping it savagely. And from behind her the last curl of smoke still floated upward.

There was a word other than "disappear" in her mind but I evaded it as she was doing.

If he confided in anyone it would be Harold I said. He has always guarded his wife from any trouble—or even annoyance—and he looks upon his daughter as a child. But of course you know those things better than I do.

I know them she admitted and I am afraid I sit down and let me tell you what has happened.

I sank down in the nearest chair with a feeling that I needed its support. She continued to lean against her desk but there was a tenseness in her attitude that told me her hands were gripping it savagely. And from behind her the last curl of smoke still floated upward.

Gas Refrigeration has Reserve Cold for Hot Weather

It's Just Like Two Freezing Units In One Cabinet When The Temperature Hits 90

The Electrolux gas refrigerator has two complete cycles of refrigeration. One of these cools your food, freezes your ice cubes, under normal temperature conditions. But when the weather becomes sizzling hot, a second unit automatically starts operation to give you double refrigerating action on the hottest days. Thus, you are assured dependable refrigeration the year 'round.

In addition, Electrolux offers you safety and silence. It has no moving parts to depreciate and wear out. In the average home it operates on natural gas for less than two cents a day. For a few cents payment a day, you can own an Electrolux — the gas refrigerator that HEADS THE PARADE FOR '36.

Again Brings Up Debt
Problem with Fervent
Plea for Payoff.

By The Associated Press
PARIS, June 2—France's new cabinet, which was formed briefly and serenely last night, has been brought to a halt by the debate over the debt.

The strikes of metal workers and attendant industries, which at their crest last week saw a total of 50,000 strikers occupying factories, were said to be well on the road to settlement.

Want 40 Hour Week
The new government faced the problem of adjusting workers' demands, whose initial request—a 40-hour week—the Socialist party already has approved.

Only a few thousand metal workers still were holding out in their demands, and union officials and employers said a complete agreement probably would be reached this week. Dye and chemical workers struck in a few factories but union leaders said the peaceful demonstrations were not general.

In the chamber even the sometimes noisy extremists were quiet, awaiting the election of a speaker Thursday. Herriot is expected to receive the post.

AUTO SCHOOLS AID NAZI ARMY

Motorized Forces Turned Out at Rate of 100,000 Annually in Reich.

By The Associated Press
BERLIN, June 2—Motor-service young men, ready to begin service in a motorized army, are being turned out at the rate of 100,000 annually by 25 schools in Hitler's third reich.

Long before Mussolini showed the world what a motorized army could do, Hitler was building the schools. Now the schools are helping to build his new army, which is organized for speed.

For such an army the recruit who knows the ins and outs of a car is more valuable than the lad who knows his manual of arms.

As a matter of fact, the youths who come to these schools to be put through an intensive four weeks' course already have received considerable preliminary training in the Hitler youth organizations. As a result, they are far from being ordinary raw recruits when the motorized divisions of the army take them in hand for further training.

They do not, as a rule, go directly from motor school into the army. After completing their four weeks' course, they are supposed to go back to school or job until the army calls for them.

The 28 training schools are called "motor sport schools" and are part of the National Socialist motor corps organization, the motorized section of the Nazi party troops.

This organization maintains a highly developed nationwide system of garages and repair shops, and has among its membership a high percentage of the country's motorists and motorcycleists. It conducts frequent competitions to develop the driving skill, mechanical resourcefulness and road sense of its members.

Hitler recently emphasized the importance he attaches to the NSKK by raising its commander-in-chief, Adolf Hühnelein, to the rank of major general in the army.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 2—An assessment by President Roosevelt that he would "seek better substitutes"
when "new things" failed was applauded yesterday by thousands of gayly-gowned country women gathered at this administration's biggest garden party.

Farm wives from every state
touched by the old AAA, meeting
at a giant conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, clapped loudest when the President said that the prosperity of city dwellers depended on increased rural purchasing power,
and added:

"Your task and mine concerns
itself not only with new problems;
we are confronted with the necessity of undoing past mistakes, of restoring the former gifts of nature to their former value and of seeing to it that harmful practices of the olden days shall not be repeated."

As the President talked from the south portico, the record-smashing crowd of 6,500 farm women continued pouring into the White House gates.

His address made up part of an opening day program in which the third triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, bringing women together from 16 countries, also heard Secretary Hull, Secretary Wallace and Mrs. Roosevelt.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 2—An assessment by President Roosevelt that he would "seek better substitutes"
when "new things" failed was applauded yesterday by thousands of gayly-gowned country women gathered at this administration's biggest garden party.

Farm wives from every state
touched by the old AAA, meeting
at a giant conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, clapped loudest when the President said that the prosperity
of city dwellers depended on increased rural purchasing power,
and added:

"Your task and mine concerns
itself not only with new problems;
we are confronted with the necessity of undoing past mistakes, of
restoring the former gifts of nature
to their former value and of seeing
to it that harmful practices of the olden days shall not be repeated."

As the President talked from the south portico, the record-smashing
crowd of 6,500 farm women continued pouring into the White

City's First Night Loop Opens Under Lights Tonight

MOORES & ROSS, ELKS TO CLASH IN OPENER AT LINCOLN PARK

Season's Schedule Calls for Three Games Each Week Until Aug. 7.

Marion's first organized league of night softball will get underway at Lincoln park tonight at 8:30 when the Moores & Ross and Elks teams tangle. For a half-hour preceding the start of the game, the Elks band, under the direction of Gene Williams, will present a concert.

Six teams are entered in the All Star Night loop and will compete on a schedule which offers softball enthusiasts three night games a week throughout the summer. Playing every Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, the program will continue with the last game being played Aug. 7. Other members of the league will be playing under the banners of the Aze Funnels Home, Marion Steam Shovel Co., K. of P. and Gasco.

Marion softball commissioners today were hopeful the 1935 night season would prove a successful undertaking, both financially and in offering fans top-notch contests. With a large amount still due on the lighting equipment at Lincoln stadium and the new WPA stadium plans still hanging fire, the commissioners base their hope of revenue on the night league contests.

With a successful season it will be possible to clear the debt incurred last season by the installation of the lights and have a balance in the treasury. Last season, only outstanding games or contests featuring out-of-town aggregations were booked for night contests. According to present plans the same program will be followed this summer, in addition to the scheduled contests.

The night league schedule has been arranged to conflict as little as possible with the three twilight loops, which began their season several weeks ago. The twilight contests have been booked on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday night, so that members of the teams may witness or participate in the night games.

Rules identical with those governing the twilight games, except for eligibility and team rosters, were adopted for the All Star league. Members of all teams registered to Marion county residents. Participants in the night league are not required to work for the firm who sponsors their team and the teams may buy, sell or trade players.

Participation in the night league will not affect the player's standing in the twilight division. Eligibility lists of each team were submitted to the commission for approval. Each squad is limited to 15 players and a playing-manager, if desired. Only two members of the team may be carried as pitchers, according to rules adopted by the commission.

In addition to the games under the lights at Lincoln park tonight, members of the Tuesday night twilight loop will also see action. Galvary and Epworth Bishops are matched at Garfield, Salem and the United Brethren at St. Mary No. 2 vs. Wesley at Lincoln.

Battered Mashie Niblick Helps Walker Cup Golfer in Pinches

By The Associated Press
DALLAS—Reynolds Smith, the mite member of the U. S. Walker cup team, is going to cast a lot of faith upon a battered old club in the international matches with the British.

The bronze 7-foot-6, 23-year-old Texan has great reverence for an old mashie niblick—out-moded, wood-shafted and anonymous. It never leaves his bag except when he's on a golf course and he's had it so long the circumstances of its acquisition eight years ago are forgotten.

It has had no repairs. The leather wrapping is varnished and worn and the head bears notches that serve as mementoes of much hard campaigning.

"I've had about three sets of clubs since I got the old mashie niblick," says Smith, "but I never let go of that club. I like it so much that I use it in preference to any other club if there is a possible chance. Where somebody else would use a niblick or a No. 6 iron, I get out the old mashie niblick. And I mean I can lay 'em up to the pin with it!"

It's the feel that counts, Smith says. "One of these new mashie niblicks feels just like a chunk of wood to me."

Curtis Wins Mat Tilt When Referee Disqualifies Moran

For the second time in as many weeks, Jack Curtis, the youthful southern wrestler, finished on top in an encounter with St. Louis' tough Sailor Moran. After dividing the two opening falls, in their meeting at the Shovel gymnasium last night the Sailor was disqualified for kneeling and low blows at the end of four minutes in the deciding melee.

Last night was also the second time in two weeks that Wild Red Berry, the Kansas wildcat, emerged victorious over opponents. Berry mauled Andy Tremaine of Phoenix, Ariz., and took the two final falls after losing the first on a rolling leg spread.

It took the rough Sailor 15 minutes to pin his opponent's shoulders and take the initial fall, after Curtis evaded the Sailor's futile attempts to register a neck wringer and a full Nelson. The Sailor finally subdued Curtis with a series of body punches and scored the fall with a body press.

The Sailor barged across the ring under full sail as the bell rang for the second round. Curtis eluded stopped his shoulder dive, repeated the performance, and as Moran dove into the ropes the third time, the clever southerner crunched behind him. It was an identical repeat of the easy fall Curtis scored over Moran in their scrap last week. The wildcat was outpunched over Curtis' back and Jack pounced on the Sailor's frame to score the fall as he hit the mat.

Time of the fall was 20 seconds. The Sailor's attempt to use the same method to win the final fall was thwarted when Curtis held to the ropes and laughed at Moran's attempt to turn the tables. After repeated wringing for his kneeling and low blows, the Sailor was disqualified and Curtis was awarded the match at the end of four minutes of the final round.

Red Berry's head went "round and round" as Andy Tremaine

Reynolds Smith of Dallas, a Texan member of the Walker cup team, depends a lot on a nicked and battered mashie niblick 8 years old.

PITTSBURGH QUIETLY STAYS IN STRIKING DISTANCE OF FLAG

Pirates Occupy Third Place in National League, Trailing Cards, Giants.

By The Associated Press
In a baseball season that already has proved rather remarkable in many ways—including the number of fans who have been drawn through the turnstiles by the uncertainty and general goodness of the early season contests—of the minor surprises is the scant notice that generally has been paid to the performances of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Buccaneers, who open their second home stand against the National league's eastern clubs today following an afternoon on which no major league games were scheduled, are one of three clubs in their circuit with averages above the 500 mark. They haven't done much to set the world afire yet, with 21 victories against 20 defeats, but all things considered, it's surprising that they're in third place and still within easy striking distance of those embattled leaders, the Cardinals and Giants.

Against a seemingly sedulous average he checked the facts that (1) Darrell (Cy) Blanton, the league's most effective pitcher in his freshman year last season, has been cuffed around with almost monotonous regularity; (2) Lloyd Waner suffered a serious illness just before the season opened and made an unusually quick recovery to get back into harness; (3) Floyd (Arky) Vaughan, the 1935 batting champion, has been hitting only about .270 thus far; and (4) Waner, Woody Jensen and Bud Hatley are even further down on the batting list.

A large part of the Pirates' success can be attributed to the fact that Big Jip Weaver seems to have come into his own as a starting pitcher. The third man in the Bucco staff last year, Weaver has become the mound mainstay by recording six victories against one defeat this spring while Blanton has failed to pitch a complete game in 13 appearances on the mound and Bill Swift has finished only twice in eleven times out. With the aid of dependable relief flinging by Waite Hoyt and Guy Bush, Swift and Ralph Birkofer have managed to hold up their end, however.

In place of Vaughan, Bill Brubaker, the third baseman who came up from Kansas City to take over Manager Ken Traynor's old job, has developed into one of the season's leading hitters with a .333 average at the last official report. Gus Suhr also is hitting well above the .300 mark as is Paul Waner although "big poison" hasn't been in there every day. Prell Schulte, acquired from Washington by the wolverine route after L. Waner was stricken, also is around .320.

The first major league night game of the season is scheduled to tonight as the new east-west series opens. The Reds turn on their floodlights—brighter than ever—for a contest with the Phillies. The faltering Giants take on the Cubs; the Bees visit Pittsburgh and Brooklyn opens at St. Louis. In the American league the Yankees test their bats against plying the Boston "Gold" Sox encounter Cleveland, winner of two straight games at home, with Athletics, still experimenting with their pitchers, face the Tigers while the Senators meet the Browns.

LITTLE SANDUSKY DEFEATS NEVADA

The Village Tavern baseball team of Little Sandusky scored its fifth consecutive victory by defeating Nevada, 5 to 2, at Little Sandusky, Sunday. In five games played the winning team has permitted only nine runs to be scored against them. Little Sandusky received credit for five runs, six hits and three errors, while Nevada had two runs, six hits and three errors, in the game last Sunday.

MT. GILEAD TEAM DEFEATS MORRAL

The Mt. Gilead baseball team defeated Morral's Independent nine, 7 to 3, on the Mt. Gilead diamond Sunday. The score by innings follows:
Morral 100 100 010—3 7 3
Mt. Gilead 000 020 057—7 7 1
Butcher and Koonitz; Coleman and Lazear.

MEYER TO RACE SUNDAY

CHICAGO, June 2—Lou Meyer, only three-time winner of the Indianapolis speedway automobile racing classic, will make his next start Sunday at the New Roby speedway. The Huntington Park, Calif., pilot will meet Babe Stapp in a special match series of three five-mile heats.

St. Mary's entry in the No. 1 Sunday School league dropped from the undefeated ranks after suffering a 11 to 10 defeat as the result of heavy slugging by the opposing Trinity Baptist squad in one of the three scheduled games played last night. Forest Lawn added the third game to its consecutive victories by trouncing the First Reformed aggregation 11 to 1, while Lee Street went to a nine-inning tie with the Epworth No. 1 team. The Presbyterian Epworth Senior contest was postponed at the request of the latter team, when it was unable to round-up enough players to complete the team's playing roster.

It was necessary for the Trinity Baptists to collect a total of 20 hits to edge St. Mary by the 11 to 10 count. Early scoring gave the defeated squad a 10-7 lead at the start of the seventh frame, but the Baptists showed in four tallies in the final stanza to gain the one-point margin of victory.

Holding their opponents scoreless except for a single run in the final inning, the Forest Lawn aggregation asserted their domination of the Monday night league as they registered the 11 to 1 victory over the First Reformed team. The winning team scored on 10 hits and five errors by the opposition.

BUCKEYE CONFERENCE SEASON NEAR END

Baseball Schedule to Close Saturday When Dayton Plays at Delaware.

Special to The Star
DELAWARE, O., June 2—The Buckeye conference baseball schedule will come to a close next Saturday when Dayton travels to Delaware to meet Ohio Wesleyan in an Alumni day attraction, and this one game is holding up the decision as to who will be the '35 Buckeye ball champions.

With all other games having been played, Ohio university rests in first place with eight wins and two losses. Ohio Wesleyan has second place clinched, with seven victories and two defeats, and will win over the Dayton nine will move the Bishops into a tie with Ohio for the title.

Even though the Flyers haven't won a game this season, there are some who think they may upset Ohio Wesleyan and keep the latter from its share in the championship pie. Another event which would ruin the Bishops' chances would be Old Man Weather. If it should rain and the game be cancelled, Ohio would have undisputed possession of the crown for both Dayton and Ohio Wesleyan can't play after Saturday, since both colleges have their commencement on Monday, June 3.

The standings:
Team W. L. Pct.
Ohio Wesleyan 7 3 .777
Ohio 6 4 .600
Miami 4 6 .400
Cincinnati 3 7 .300
Marshall 3 8 .269
Dayton 0 8 .000

Hallahan, Cards' Relief Man, Goes To Cincinnati

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, O., June 2—"Wild Bill" Hallahan, husky southpaw hurler, came from the St. Louis Cardinals to Cincinnati today as the Reds awaited the first night baseball game of the major league season with the Phillies tonight.

As Hallahan, eight years in the big time, headed here, little Tony Frolina relinquished his uniform to join the Columbus Red Birds of the American association as the latest addition to that club's pitching staff.

Declaring it much easier to "find the ball" under field lights which are 40 per cent brighter than last year, Manager Charley Dressen said today his crew was ready for the first of seven scheduled nocturnal contests, at 8:30 o'clock tonight. Club officials predicted at least 18,000 would attend.

Hallahan, at 32, has a record of 93 wins and 68 losses in his eight years of service in the majors. Dressen said he would use him as a starting pitcher, rather than for relief, his recent assignment under Manager Frankie Frisch of the Cards.

FOREST LOSES TO KENTON

American Association Batters Slug Out 94 Hits Good for 139 Bases.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, June 2—It may have been due to the brisk night air or some other cause, but there were a lot of improved batting averages in the American Association today.

In four games, three of them at night, association sluggers hammered out 94 hits, good for 139 bases. The biggest showing was made at Indianapolis, where the Toledo Mud Hens whipped the Indians 14 to 9. Toledo slugged Zelen, Traut and Logan for 14 hits, while Cohen, who coasted in behind his batting support, gave the Indians 13. Carson led the Hens with a double, triple and single, while Ivy Shiver contributed four singles to Indianapolis' total.

Milwaukee protected its half-game margin over Kansas City in the battle for first place by turning 12 hits into a 5 to 1 victory over Minneapolis, while the Blues were trouncing St. Paul, 14 to 1. Joe Havling held Minneapolis to six hits and fanned six batters. Bernie Uhlatt, with a double and two singles, paced the Brewer attack on Reg Grabowski and Ray Kolp.

Kansas City made nine of its 13 hits in one inning, the third, to score 12 runs in its rout of the Saints. Fifteen Blues went to bat during the inning, producing six singles, two doubles and a triple, and were further aided by three walks. Marchand collected two doubles and a pair of singles to lead the Blues. Phil Page kept lead St. Paul hitless and missed a shutout when his own error helped the Saints to their only run in the ninth.

With every member of the cast getting at least one hit, and Johnny Winsett accounting for four, Columbus crashed out 19 hits in battering Louisville, 13 to 1, in the only afternoon game. The Red Birds batted Dick Bass out of action in the first inning and continued their rampage at the expense of Yank Terry. Winsett had a home run, two doubles and a single, driving in four runs and scoring four more.

BOXING RULE CHANGED

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, June 2—Hereafter, there will be no technical knockouts marked up in the Illinois state athletic commission book against a fighter who is forced by an eye injury to cease fighting while leading on points. An amendment to the rules, added today at the suggestion of Commissioner George Getz, provides for a draw decision in such cases.

AMERICA ELIMINATED IN DAVIS CUP PLAY

Defeat of Allison in Zone Finals Shelves U. S. Hopes of Victory.

By The Associated Press
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 2—Another American Davis cup campaign was in the discard today with the prospect that it will be many a moon before Uncle Sam's men in white recapture it.

Everything turned black as far as 1935 is concerned yesterday when Jack Crawford hung a five-set defeat on Wilmer Allison, 4-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, giving Australia the decisive third point in her American zone final against the United States.

Australia's margin of victory finally was 3 to 2 as Donald Budge achieved a meaningless 6-2, 6-4 victory over Adrian Quist in the fifth and final encounter. It was Budge's second singles win. He outlasted Crawford in a five-setter on the opening day. And it merely served to emphasize that until some other discovery is made he is America's lone international hope.

The hot and cold performance Allison exhibited in both single assignments, with Quist, his opponent the first day, virtually spelled his finish as an international contender.

Allison's two defeats in the series revived the controversy in connection with his selection over Bryan (Betsy) Grant. Walter Merrill Tilden, president of the U. S. Lawn Tennis association, and "Big Bill" Tilden, who went through many a cup war, rushed to the defense of Captain Walter Fates' selections.
